DOTr IMPLEMENTS MANDATORY USE OF FACE SHIELDS FOR ALL PASSENGERS USING PUBLIC TRANSPORTATION

All passengers using any mode of public transportation will be required to wear face shields, aside from face masks, effective 15 August 2020, as mandated by the Department of Transportation (DOTr).

In a Memorandum Circular released on 04 August 2020, the DOTr, through its Administrative Service, has ordered all officials and heads of its various transportation sectors to enjoin, within their respective jurisdictions, the mandatory wearing of face shields for all passengers in areas where public transportation is allowed.

The initiative aims to further reduce the risk of transmitting the coronavirus disease (COVID-19) in public transport facilities as health authorities have pointed out that the use of face shields and masks reduces exposure to and emission of respiratory droplets considerably.

“Sa mga kababayan 'ho natin, huwag sana nating isipin na panibagong gastusin o dagdag abala ang pag-require natin sa paggamit ng face shield. Let us remember that no amount of protection is too much when it comes to health and safety, especially that we are battling an invisible enemy. What we are addressing is not a transport issue but rather a health issue. Kaya nga 'ho hinihingi ko ang kooperasyon ng bawat isa,” DOTr Secretary Arthur Tugade said.

The directive applies to all public transportation throughout the country, involving the Aviation and Airports, Railways, Road, and Maritime sectors.

“Ipatutupad po natin ang mandatong ito sa lahat ng pampublikong sasakyang tulad ng sa mga tren, bus, jeepney, taxi, passengers vessels at maging sa eroplano. I will not elaborate

Economic plunge

"The military-style lockdown in the Philippines has not worked."

The Philippine economy, as expected, plunged in the second quarter of the year, weighed down by the prolonged COVID-19 lockdown that shut down businesses and put millions of Filipinos out of work.

The Philippines fared worse than its peers in Southeast Asia. The local economy slumped 9 percent in the first six months of 2020 compared with a contraction of 1.2 percent in Indonesia, 6.5 percent in Thailand and 3.9 percent in Malaysia.

The Philippines suffered the sharpest contraction in this part of the world due to the economy's bias toward the services sector and its consumption-driven nature.

The business process outsourcing sector has employed millions, along with the real estate, and finance and insurance industries.

Meanwhile, over 27 million people in Metro Manila and the provinces of Laguna, Cavite, Rizal and Bulacan have been covered by varying lockdown degrees in the government's attempt to contain the virus spread.

boring provinces account for about 67 percent of the country's economic output.

Consumer spending in the second quarter, as a result, plunged 15.5 percent in the second quarter. This meant lower factory production in response to the reduced consumption of workers, many of whom lost their jobs because of the pandemic.

Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas Governor Benjamin Diokno, however, is cautiously optimistic, saying the "worst is behind us," although "we are not out of the woods yet."

The military-style lockdown in the Philippines has not worked. It disrupted business operations and rendered many workers jobless.

SM CITY MACOOR SM SUPERMALLS WILL REMAIN OPEN TO SERVE YOU Pursuant to the IATF and DTI directives under modified enhanced community quarantine, the following stores will remain open to serve the public from 9am to 5pm: SM Supermarket (8am to 5pm), BDO (9am to 3pm; Mon-Fri), China Bank (9am-2pm; Mon-Wed & Fri), Ace Hardware, Watsons, Couriers, Telco Payment Services, Ambulatory & dental clinics, Select restaurants offering take-out or delivery. Bata, a world-renowned shoe brand with over 6,000 retail stores across the globe, partnered anew with SM Foundation (SMFI) in donating 1,800 pairs of shoes for the front-liners of the Philippine General Hospital.

"Due to long and often times back-to-back work shifts, a number of our health workers are experiencing foot and back pain," says SM Foundation Executive Director Debbie Sy. "The need to constantly disinfect their shoes also results in faster wearing out of their footwear.

"Bata Philippines donated these shoes as our way of saying thank you to our front-liners for the help that they have extended to the country during the COVID-19 pandemic," says Bata Philippines General Manager Arlyn Guanlao.

UP PGH Director Dr. Gerardo Legaspi expressed his gratitude to SM Foundation and Bata, "I'd like to thank SM Foundation for being ever supportive of our COVID-19 fight here in PGH. You have covered the whole spectrum of our needs from ventilators and now sneakers.

Since the onset of the outbreak, Bata through its "Bata Heroes" initiative has been working with its long-standing foundations, charitable partners, government agencies, and other organization to respond to the COVID-19 pandemic.

Through the years, SMFI and Bata have been collaborating on social good projects. In 2018, they teamed up to construct a new school building for Telabastagan Integrated School in San Fernando, Pampanga.

Strictly enforce Ease of Doing Business Law to build more cell sites

To build the much-needed information and communications technology (ICT) infrastructure the country needs amid the COVID-19 pandemic, Senator Win Gatchalian urged the government to ensure that Republic Act 11032 or the Ease of Doing Business and Efficient Government Service Delivery Act of 2018 is in full force.

The Vice-Chairman of the Senate Committee on Economic Affairs lamented that while the law calls and allows for the speedier construction of infrastructure for interconnectivity, the inadequate number of cell sites nationwide keeps internet speed at turtle-pace.

year, the Department of Information and Communications Technology (DICT) said that it needs at least 50,000 additional cell towers to improve services.

According to the 2019 3rd Quarter Report by TowerXChange, an informal network among advisors in the market tower industry worldwide, the Philippines has 17,850 cell sites. Thailand has 52,483 cell sites while Vietnam has 90,000.

Gatchalian added that since the COVID-19 pandemic is forcing all sectors—as including the private sector and the academe—to an accelerated digital shift, the lack of adequate ICT is making the transition more difficult for Filipinos.

According to former DICT Undersecretary Eliseo Rio Jr., it usually takes telecommunication companies eight months to secure permits to construct a cell site and another four months for construction.

Under Section 15 of the Ease of Doing Business Law or what we call the anti-red tape law, local government units, and national government agencies are each given seven working days for the processing and approval of licenses, clearances, permits, certifications or authorizations to put up and operate telecommunication facilities, broadcast towers, equipment, and services.

The law also provides that failure to approve or disapprove these applications within the prescribed processing time would consider the applications deemed approved.

within the prescribed processing time would consider the applications deemed approved.

"Since the COVID-19 pandemic forced us to move most of our activities online, there is a more urgent need for reliable and accessible internet for everyone. Making this shift, however, has been a big hurdle because of the gaps in our ICT infrastructure and unless the Ease of Doing Business Law is fully enforced, we will not be able to bridge the country's digital divide," said Gatchalian.

"Slowly but surely things are moving now. The DILG has already issued guidelines on how to expedite the construction of cell towers," the senator said.

While Gatchalian acknowledged the fact that Globe and Smart really need to improve the quality of their services, he emphasized that the problem is a shared responsibility among the telcos, the local governments, and government agencies such as the Anti-Red Tape Authority (ARTA), which was created by virtue of Section 17 of RA 11032, to monitor and ensure compliance with the national policy of anti-red tape and ease of doing business in the country.

"We have to make the business environment conducive. I'm calling on the Anti-Red Tape Authority to do your job and you will make it easier for the telcos to put up cell towers," Gatchalian concluded.

Cavite Governor Jonvic Remulla bared the province's Educational Plan in anticipation of the opening of classes on August 24, 2020 following the Department of Education's blended learning modalities.

According to Gov. Jonvic Remulla, the provincial government would invest over Php4M a year for 5 years to set up a Virtual Private Network to serve the entire DepEd (approximately 650,000 students) in Cavite to run the Cavite Education program.

This will involve setting up 5,000 access points across 829 barangays to reach 400,000 homes for the whole province.

Similarly, the program will use the DepEd system of transmission of lessons that can be downloaded with the use of electronic gadgets (smart phones, laptops, desktops, and tablets).

Moreover, the system is time bound sensitive for assessment purposes to monitor the progress of the children.

tem is time bound sensitive for assessment purposes to monitor the progress of the children.

On the other hand, the program's limitations are the access to devices with those who could not afford a gadget will have to rely on the materials printed by DepEd and the system cannot be used for any other application except for education.

The system can only be accessed with the use of the DepEd Student ID number system.

Governor Remulla was happy to announce that the Cavite Educational system is free.

"Investing in our students is investing for the future. The pandemic may be gone sooner or later but the opportunity lost for the young minds today is a cost that will be hard to pay for," the governor concluded. (PIA)

The Regional Anti-Cybercrime Unit Region 4A (RACU 4A) proves its commitment to uphold cyber safety as it bested two awards in the national and regional levels.

RACU 4A bagged the Best Regional Anti-Cybercrime Unit award in the national level besting 16 other regions during the 7th PNP Anti-Cybercrime Group (ACG) Anniversary 2020 last July 24 and the Best Regional Operational Support Unit in the regional level conquering other operational support units in Calabarzon during the 119th Police Regional Office 4A (PRO4A) Police Service Anniversary on August 6, 2020.

RACU 4A Regional Chief PCol. Julius C. Suriben stated that the RACU 4A has obtained these awards through "the attainment of the 2019 Team RACU4A Commitment as an active partner of PRO4A in crime prevention, crime solution and in increasing public safety awareness in CALABARZON by ensuring a safer and more secured cyberspace which is vital in the attainment of sustainable security and development in the region."

RACU4A has achieved many of their goals and commitments in 2019 that sufficed to qualify them for the two noble awards.

They had significant improvements in terms of promoting community cyber safety awareness, strengthening community partnership, cybercrime prevention, and cybercrime solution.

In 2019, RACU 4A had a total of 601 reported crimes which shows 47.67% increase from the previous year, where 93 of the 601 cases were filed while 57 were resolved.

Such increase, he explained, can be attributed to the enhanced crime recording and intensified awareness campaign on the existence of RACU 4A.

The Unit also obtained a Cybercrime Solution Efficiency of 15.31% which is a 790.12% increase from 2018, while their Cybercrime Clearance Efficiency reached 30.78% or a

256.66% rise from 2018. The Chief expressed that "the significant improvement in the investigation of cases is a result of the intensified law enforcement operations, Project i-C.A.R.E. or monthly case reviews, Court or Prosecutor Visitations, the continuing training of investigators and the close coordination and relationship with PRO4A."

The significant accomplishments of RACU4A has also earned them various distinctions that bestowed them 46 PNP Medals and 58 other recognitions for all RACU 4A personnel from the PNP ACG, PRO 4A, non-government organizations (NGOs) and schools.

RACU 4A continually lived up to its mandate even amid the Coronavirus Disease (COVID-19) pandemic as they initiated operations against profiteering or overpricing of essential medical supplies, fake and unregistered COVID-19 medicines, and investigated several purveyors of fake news and false information when Luzon has been placed under Enhanced Community Quarantine (ECQ).

"The PNP ACG thru the RACU4A will remain steadfast in its commitment to forge a stronger partnership with PRO4A and all stakeholders to ensure a safer and more secured CALABARZON cyberspace," the Chief affirmed. (Joy Gabrido/PIA4A) more on the practical benefits the face shield offers, but we know that the use of face coverings and masks for superior protection is adopted widely," DOTr Undersecretary for Administrative Affairs Artemio Tuazon Jr. stressed.

Further, Usec. Tuazon clarifies that the face shield to be used should sufficiently cover the nose and mouth. "Mayroon po kasing mga tinatawag na visor, goggles, o 'yung iba pang protective eyewear that only encloses the eye area. We advise that our passengers use the ones that cover the whole face. It's actually meant as a redundancy of the protection of the face mask," Usec. Tuazon adds.

Meanwhile, stringent preventive measures are still in effect to contain the spread of COVID-19 in all public transport facilities. These include the mandatory wearing of face mask, strict enforcement of the social distancing measure, and handwashing or hand sanitizing. Talking and using mobile phones are likewise discouraged inside all public transportation. (DOTR PR)

PHL has enough resources for “drawn-out struggle” vs COVID-19

Finance Secretary Carlos Dominguez III said the government has “the resources necessary” to endure the challenge of COVID-19 and its adverse economic impact, following the first-semester contraction by 9 percent of the economy, which he added will improve in the second half of 2020 if all sectors work together to shore up consumer confidence and the public cooperates in curbing the spread of the coronavirus pandemic.

Metro Manila and other urban centers were on strict lockdown in the three months leading to June to prevent the spread of COVID-19, which has unleashed an unprecedented health and economic crisis across the globe.

Dominguez reported that without continued and increased public-sector spending, especially on infrastructure, public health and social protection, the first-semester gross domestic product (GDP) would have shrunk by a total of 11.5 percent, 2.5 percentage points more than the actual 9 percent.

Government expenditures during the first semester of 2020 was up by 27 percent year-on-year (YOY), increasing to P2.01 trillion compared to P1.59 trillion during the same period last year.

Among the country's credit-rating peer group, first-semester numbers show contractions among the economies of Italy by 11.6 percent, Mexico by 10.2 percent and Indonesia by 1.2 percent.

“We are not alone in our struggles, although the unique fiscal and macroeconomic strengths with which we entered 2020 will continue to provide us with solid footing as we confront our economic challenges,” Dominguez said during the press briefing of the Development Budget Coordination Committee (DBCC) to discuss the Philippines' GDP growth in the second quarter.

Dominguez said the government's three-pronged strategy against COVID-19 involves a fiscal stimulus package, a recalibrated national budget for 2021, and continued massive investment in infrastructure.

The Congress' Bayanihan to Recover as One measure or Bayanihan 2, which includes targeted support for unemployed individuals and the hardest-hit strategic industries, hurdled second reading in the House of Representatives this week.

The proposed P4.506-trillion “Reset, Rebound and Recover” budget for 2021, as briefly presented by Budget Secretary Wendel Avisado during the DBCC briefing, focuses on priority spending areas that will strengthen the economy's recovery from the pandemic.

These include further buttressing the healthcare system, ensuring food security, enabling a digital government and economy, and helping communities cope and prevail in these challenging times.

Dominguez, however, also emphasized the need to ensure that the country has enough fiscal resources for a protracted fight against COVID-19.

“When Senator Pacquiao trains for a fight, he prepares for 12 grueling rounds. As there can be no knock-out punch that cuts our fight short before a vaccine is developed, the government's ability to sustain the fight depends on our fiscal stamina. We have the resources necessary to endure this challenge, but we must also conserve our resources for succeeding rounds of this fight,” he said.

Dominguez said the economic recovery in the third quarter following the calibrated reopening of businesses since the end of May is expected to proceed at a “steady, yet moderate phase,” more so after President Duterte made the tough, but necessary, decision this week to reimpose a two-week moderate ECQ (MECQ) to further boost our healthcare capacity amid a virus resurgence.

He added that in the short run, the two-week MECQ in Metro Manila and most of Calabarzon this August would negatively affect livelihoods, production and household consumption, but if the government and its private sector partners manage to use the two-week timeout to beef up healthcare resources and prevent further COVID-19 spread, the return of the more stringent lockdown measures this month would be positive for the long-term goal of beating the pandemic.

“As I have said earlier, the whole world is learning how to dance with this lethal virus: two steps forward and one step back,” he said.

“The economy is in good shape to mount a strong recovery soon enough, given the positive metrics such as benign inflation, a peso that is the strongest currency in Asia, and high-investment grade credit profile that has enabled us to borrow money here and abroad—at relatively lower cost—to fund our programs for COVID-19 response and other requirements,” he said.

Dominguez noted that improvements were also seen in the manufacturing sector as the economy began to gradually reopen. For instance, the value of the production index for the month of June showed a slower annual decline of 22.5 percent compared to the 31.2 percent decrease in May and 41.2 percent in April, Dominguez said.

While the volume of production index in June shrank by 19.3 percent year-on-year, the decline was slower compared to May's drop of 28.5 percent and 38.8 percent in April.

In addition, the overall manufacturing capacity reached 73 percent in June, up from 72.4 percent in May and 70.5 percent in April.

Moreover, the country's total merchandise trade further eased its negative trajectory in June with a slower decline of 19.9 percent, after a steep 35.3 percent contraction in May and 59.5 percent in April. This slower decline in the country's trade performance signals the resumption of economic activities.

These improvements are reflected in increases in tax collections by the Bureau of Internal Revenue (BIR) and the Bureau of Customs (BOC). The BOC was able to surpass its July collection target by 5 percent due to higher import volumes, while the BIR also reported above-target performance in June, which signals rising economic activity. CONCEPCION, PRIVATE SECTOR RESPECT PRRD'S DECISION, UNDERSTAND PLIGHT OF MEDICAL FRONTLINERS Presidential Adviser for Entrepreneurship and Go Negosyo founder Joey Concepcion said that the private sector understands the plight of the medical frontliners and respects the decision of President Rodrigo Duterte to place Metro Manila and nearby areas under modified enhanced community quarantine (MECQ) from Aug. 4 to 18 as COVID-19 cases in the country breached the 100,000 mark.

“We respect the decision of the President,” said Concepcion. “We understand the plight of the healthcare workers and medical groups who are at the frontlines of this disease and commit to fully support them with all the means at our disposal.”

“However, we cannot deny the challenges confronting our economy. We are entering a period of historically strong consumption levels from August to December when we expect most of the businesses to recover their losses. Of course, we will make the best out of the two-week MECQ. Our group is going to launch pooled PCR testing before August 15 and that will help increase the visibility to determine where the infections are. This will be a game-changer. It will speed up testing and make it cheaper. What I'm referring to are not rapid test kits; these are swab tests.”

With no available cure or vaccine available on the market, Concepcion called for a more surgical and localized approach to lockdown that focuses on barangays or local clusters with high infection rates while allowing the rest of the area to operate normally. He points out that selective barangay quarantine is the most sustainable approach to limiting the spread of the virus.

“Part of the plan is to move towards the granular lockdown. But in this case, because of the number of infections rising, I understand that there is a need to revisit our strategies. Two weeks is not too long - we can manage that. But if it goes beyond two weeks then it becomes a little bit more serious,” Concepcion added.

He stressed that the two-week lockdown period will give local government units more time to prepare for a more granular lockdown approach. “Moving forward, to co-exist with the virus, we have to allow a granular type of lockdown and approach the issue from a data-driven standpoint. We get the number of infections in each barangay from the DOH so we know what barangays to lock down. The private sector will fund the 16 cities and 1 municipality for the pooled PCR initial testing this coming August. We will fund that for all these LGUs in NCR.

That's the commitment from the private sector. That's about P160,000 pooled PCR tests that will be done for this part of the research.”

“Being at the front lines in fighting the pandemic, we, in the private sector, also want to ensure that all healthcare workers will be swabbed/ tested through pooled testing. They are on top of our priorities,” he said.

ARK-PCR Private Sector Chief Implementor Janette Garin, is leading the private sector on this initiative. Garin earlier outlined a plan to attack COVID through aggressive testing and prevent non-COVID deaths which will allow partial return to work by way of pooled PCR testing.

Under this method, swab samples of multiple individuals are put into a single PCR test. If a positive result comes from a single batch of pooled tests, further individual asessments will be made. The test is designed to be sensitive enough to come up positive when at least one sample in the batch is positive. On the other hand, if the swab test of multiple individuals comes back negative, then individual tests need not be performed.

Garin explained that a proposed costing mechanism has already been developed which will bring down the cost of testing to PHP450 per person in pools of 5s; PHP350 per person in pools of 10s, and PHP250 per person in pools of 20s, inclusive of PHP150 swabbing fee with VTM. If the study is approved by the Department of Health, pooled testing can be piloted in 21 implementation sites namely 11 Go Negosyo supported laboratories and 5 each from San Miguel Foundation and Ayala Foundation.

Pooled PCR

testing is expected to optimize the availability of test kits, reduce the workload of laboratory staff, eliminates large groups of negative cases, makes PCR testing more affordable and available, provides LGUs and businesses with a better and clearer direction, and restores confidence in returning to work while sustaining the gains of the initial lockdown.

“When health meets economy, when testing fills the gap in making social distancing, hygiene practices and other new normal behaviors more effective, we can co-exist with COVID,” Garin said.

“If ECQ is inevitable, let's do it per city. Granular lockdown should be at least 10 days,” Garin said, echoing the position of Concepcion for a localized and granular approach to lockdown. (GO NEGOSYO PR)
